

Types Of Mattresses

Broadly mattresses are classified into three types.
They are:

01

Memory Foam

It becomes soft enough to mould around a person or body shape in response to the body heat & pressure. Once the pressure is removed, it returns to the original shape.

02

Innerspring

It uses inner coils & springs made of steel for absorbing the weight of a body and providing optimum support.

03

Hybrid

It combines a layer of memory foam with innerspring system to offer a comfortable yet sturdy sleeping experience.
